General Description

The Criminal Justice Studies program at Southwestern College offers degrees and certificates designed to prepare students for employment and/or further study. The programs and courses within the criminal justice program provide a strong foundation in, and comprehensive understanding of, the criminal justice system (historical and contemporary), its relevant laws and procedures, as well as the myriad of careers within it. While the program provides a broad foundation, it emphasizes the intersection between research, policy, and practice thereby exposing students to the multitude of factors that influence how the criminal justice system pursues “justice”, or fails to do so.
